

1971: A Year in the Life of Color

1971 was a year of great change and upheaval. The Vietnam War was winding down, the civil rights movement was gaining momentum, and the women's liberation movement was just beginning to take shape. It was also a year of great creativity and innovation in the arts and sciences.

1971: A Year in the Life of Color captures the vibrant spirit of the year through stunning photographs and evocative text. The book features over 200 color photographs from some of the world's most renowned photographers, including Henri Cartier-Bresson, Richard Avedon, and Diane Arbus. The text, written by Pulitzer Prize-winning author David Halberstam, provides a rich historical context for the photographs, capturing the political, social, and cultural events that shaped the year.
